Review: one of the best pies I've had in Vancouver. Tomato pie with Ricotta basil and garlic.

Great crust, nice char and full of flavour. Sweet and not to tangy sauce. Hint of garlic and right amount of basil. The ricotta creamy and tasty. Overall great pie and high rating out of the gate. This is what I think a Sally's pie would taste like.

Nat's New York Pizzeria - Kitsilano

Review: Once again great pizza. Good crust. Intense flavours. This was a Meat deluxe meat lover pizza with double cheese. This did not disappoint the taste buds. Great sauce, smooth and creamy. Awesome. Gave this a 9.5 because it was damn good pizza. Also had the meatballs OMG amazing. Fine ground meat. Cooked and sauced to perfection. Grazie Mille.

Although the crust and cook was good. This fell a bit short of the mark. The initial bite was amazing. Five minutes later I had a pasty taste, lots of salt and way too much garlic. Shame as I had high hopes. However they also have salads which I had ordered earlier in the week and that was amazing. Good price and lots of options.

So I ordered my own pizza with following:

Crushed san Mariano tomatoes

Shredded mozzarella

Parmesan

Fresh basil

Sautéed onions

Ground sausage

Seasoned potatoes

Now these may have not gone together well. So I will try again an see if we get a better outcome. The salad above was the second day, I had enough for 3 meals. That I give 8 plus. Great job. The pizza needs another try.
